

"SLEUTHS" GATHER FOR INAUGURATION

Experts From All Parts of Country Aiding Capital Department.

EVERY PRECAUTION TO GUARD VISITORS

Some of Most Famous Thieves in United States Now in Capital.

outsiders of the city are also under surveillance, and every possible entrance to the city is being carefully watched.

Major Sylvester believes that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and he hopes the precautionary measure he has taken will prevent any large robberies, although it is practically a certainty that a good many visitors will be relieved of their pocket-books in the large crowds watching the parade.

The visiting detectives come from the East, North, South, and West, and know the faces of almost every professional thief in the country. The men began arriving in Washington last Saturday, and by tomorrow will be swarmed by at least 100 out-of-town officers.

Has Fine Record.

Capt. "Ed" McLaughlin, former chief of detectives in Pittsburgh, reached the city this morning. McLaughlin is regarded as one of the best men in his line in the United States. He has a record of having apprehended more professional thieves than any man in Pittsburgh, and there are few crooks whose faces he does not know.

Lieutenants Devey, Savage, McMullin, and Gray, of the New York central office, are also here. They are the other well-known "gunshoe" artists are Detective Sergeant Shea, of Pittsburgh; Detective Joe Perry, of Chicago, who has arrested hundreds of thieves in the Windy City; Charles White, of New York; and Captain of Detectives Tomlinson, of Richmond, Va.; Detective Crim, of Cincinnati, and Detective Foster, of Louisville.

The visitors attending roll call at Police Headquarters this morning at 9 o'clock, and were given special instruction by Inspector McLaughlin, Chief of Detectives. All of the men were given assignments the same as the local staff, and they will be expected to attend roll call regularly twice a day while in the city.

Suspects Watched.

With all the precaution that has been taken, the police realize that it is possible for a few thieves to slip into the city. In fact, it is believed that some have already arrived. The usual haunts of this class, however, are being watched, and if they expect to be at liberty on inauguration day they will have to keep "under cover" until the parade starts.

Mingling with the crowd along the Avenue, at the Capitol and in front of the White House, the detectives will be on constant watch for pickpockets. While a large number of uniformed men from the outposts will have to be on duty in the downtown section of the city on inauguration day, Major Sylvester has made plans to protect the residential sections of the District. Hundreds of extra policemen will be on duty.

All day yesterday and today Chief Clerk Hesse, of the Police Department, was busy swearing in the new detectives and the extra policemen. All of these officers have been furnished with badges and a large number will be in uniform.

To Police Avenue.

With the view of making final arrangements for policing the city from the Capitol to Thirtieth street, while the inaugural parade is in progress, the committee on observations, of which Capt. Isaac Gans is chairman, will meet at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms tonight. Twenty-six men, in addition to Captain Gans, compose the committee, and two of them will be stationed on each of the thirteen streets in the territory under the supervision of the committee. They have been sworn in with full police powers.

Historic Banners.

Twenty flags and banners, some of them of great historic interest, will be carried by the United German Societies of the District in the parade. Among these ensigns will be the tattered banner of the Eighth Battalion, torn by shot and shell, which formed the rallying point for the two companies of local Turners who participated in the struggle between the States. The famous banner of the Washington Sausengerbund that has been carried by the singers almost sixty years; the flag of the Columbia Turnverein, one of which was carried in the Lincoln inaugural parade in 1861, and the original flag of the German Turnverein, which is expected to be in evidence in a special phalanx of especially handsome color bearers. Noon is the hour designated for the German societies to assemble at the Sausengerbund Hall the meeting point. There will be twenty-three organizations represented, and it is expected that the representation will include at least 500 all told. Martin Weiland will be chief marshal, and will be assisted by Paul Brandstedt and Robert Pluyim. The color bearers will be escorted by the mounted German troop under Capt. Charles Gerner.

Knights of Maccabees.

The members of the uniformed rank, Knights of the Maccabees, have completed arrangements for the participation of the two local divisions in the inaugural parade. There will, it is expected, be a number of visiting knights under the command of Maj. Gen. W. H. Slater. General Slater and his staff will arrive in Washington Wednesday afternoon, and will establish headquarters in the Pacific building. The visiting knights will be quartered at 425 Ninth street northwest. There will be two bands in the Maccabee section of the parade.

Leave for Capital.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Capt. Edward Gallagher, head of the Philadelphia detective force, together with Detectives James A. Scanlon and Richard Doyle, of the city hall force, went to Washington today to remain until after the inauguration crowd has left the Capital City.

Tomorrow Detectives James Tate, Jr., John Dewey, Frank O'Connor, Charles H. H. and Joseph Conroy will leave for Washington, and with these men, all old-timers, Captain Gallagher hopes to do Philadelphia's share in protecting the thousands of visitors to the inauguration.

They will make it their particular duty to look out for Philadelphia crooks, but many of these men are familiar with crooks of national and international reputation, and they will be a big aid to the Washington police. Practically every large city in the country will send its best detectives to Washington this week.

CONFEREES DISAGREE ON THE SALARY BILL

The House and Senate conferees today agreed to disagree on the legislative, judicial, and executive appropriation bill, and it is now a question of which house will concede.

The bill deals with the President's salary, the appointment of an under Secretary of State at $10,000 a year, the salaries of the Speaker and Vice President, horses and carriages for them, increased salaries for Federal and Supreme Court judges and judges of the Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia.

The Senate insists on a $100,000 salary for the President, while the House conferees are under instructions to insist that the salary be $75,000. They are also under instructions to disagree to nearly all of the other Senate amendments. Judging from the determined manner in which the House fought the various Senate amendments to the bill last week, it is extremely unlikely that it will now reverse its position.

"This is one time," said a member of the Appropriations Committee today, "when the House will not give way to the Senate. We are going to have the bill as it passed the House or it will fall of passage."

Superfluous Hair.

Ladies who are afflicted with superfluous hair growths should be careful in choosing a remedy. Always learn first what authorities know about a treatment before using it. Dr. Rhodes, the well-known physician, says: "In regard to DeMiracle, I find it the most satisfactory article for the removal of superfluous growths of hair on any part of the body that I have ever used. I have used it in a great many cases for the removal of objectionable growths of hair on the faces of ladies, and in no case has it ever failed to give me the most perfect satisfaction. It fulfills all the claims made for it by the manufacturers."

Better take a doctor's advice, don't be deceived with fake free treatments. DeMiracle is the only method in the world which is endorsed by physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals, and prominent magazines.

DeMiracle mailed, sealed in plain wrappers, for $2.00. Your money back without question (no red tape) if it fails to do all that is claimed for it. Booklet free in plain sealed envelope, by the DeMiracle Chemical Co., 180 Park Ave., New York. For sale by W. S. Thompson Pharmacy, S. Kann, Sons & Co., and all good stores.

"The telephone is annoying," said the Amiable Drummer, "but, anyway, it's honest. When the line is busy Central does not urge us to accept something similar. When a dealer can't furnish my $3.50 Sample Shoes for $2.00—that's exactly what he does do."

TAFT GLAD TO HAVE HIS WIFE IN CARRIAGE

President-Elect Has No Objection to Such Arrangements.

Shall Mrs. Taft ride down Pennsylvania avenue on inauguration day as the waiting thousands can have a look at her?

This is the all-absorbing question that is now agitating a great many of the Government officials, and the members

Closing Out Their Piano Business

Young & McHugh, 708 12th Street N. W.

One of the Many Bargains—A New High-Grade Piano at $150.

We can say truthfully that such offers were never before made. These are not the usual cheap piano, variety, that are continually being heralded as bargains, but strictly high-class goods which we must dispose of at once, and to do so we are offering them at prices that seem almost ridiculous. Don't miss this chance to own a fine piano. The terms are so arranged as to make it possible for everyone to take advantage of this Great Sale, which amounts to nothing less than a wholesale proposition. Some have bought a year in advance of this time they had expected to buy merely to take advantage of the great saving. Indeed, if there is a need at any time in the future for a fine piano it will pay to consider the offer we are making, which as a money-saving proposition has seldom, if ever, been equaled. We invite an inspection and are certain that a comparison of goods, prices, and terms, will carry absolute conviction of the claims we are making.

of the committees having the inaugural arrangements in hand. Within the last few days many hundreds of requests have come in that the First Lady of the Land should be included in the formal proceedings.

The Committee on Arrangements of the House and Senate has made its program without including Mrs. Taft in the carriage either from the White House or from the Capitol. Mr. Taft was asked today if the matter had been brought to him.

"It has been discussed," he said with a smile, "and I believe it is still undecided. You may say officially, for me, however, that I would have no objection whatever to having Mrs. Taft ride in the carriage with me."
